Grailville is a center of The Grail, an international movement of women committed to spiritual search, social actions, ecological sustainability and the release of women's creative energy throughout the world. Located on 300 acres of woodlands, pastures and organic gardens, Grailville is a diverse community offering spiritual, cultural and educational opportunities for the public, as well as providing guest facilities for meetings, lodging and dining. Scholarship funds for Grailville programs are made possible through the generosity of Grail and other women.
